

DAYS SPA

SEPTEMBER 2020 DAYSPAMAGAZINE.COM

Need CEs?

Just because our country is going through a pandemic doesn't mean that individual states are not going to require continuing education credits for license renewal (wouldn't that be nice, though?).

Just like you would find as an attendee to one of our three Face & Body conferences, Face & Body Virtual is offering a full day of high-level, product-neutral education by some of the best minds in the biz to expand our minds and keep our knowledge fresh.

The day kicks off with none other than the queen of cosmetic chemistry herself, Rebecca Gadberry at 10:05 a.m. CDT. In her presentation, Clean Beauty 2020, Gadberry will discuss the ever-popular term, dispelling myths and scientific inaccuracies to discern what clean beauty really means.

The day will continue with skin care expert Shannon Esau of Rhonda Allison at 11:15 a.m. CDT with her presentation, The Importance of Skin Health. Esau's topic is critical to support our understanding of how to keep the barrier healthy so that it in turn can protect the body in the way in which it was designed.

The day will continue with skin care expert Shannon Esau of Rhonda Allison at 11:15 a.m. CDT with her presentation, The Importance of Skin Health. Esau's topic is critical to support our understanding of how to keep the barrier healthy so that it in turn can protect the body in the way in which it was designed.

For example, Brian Goodwin from Éminence will introduce the company's Rapid Results Facial on Sept. 14, 2020, at 11:30 a.m. CDT, while Metaxia Dalikas from Lira Clinical will discuss how we can stay connected with clients in her presentation on the same day at 12:30 p.m. CDT.

On Sept. 15, you can find an introduction into Korean-American skin care with Lincoln Lee from Dermaesthetics at 12:00 p.m. CDT and listen to the nuts and bolts of acne from Bianca Rojas of the New Age Spa Institute at 12:30 p.m. CDT.

Don't forget to tune in, not only for the in-depth education but also for the show-only product discounts that will be given to attendees.

reviewing beneficial treatments and lifestyle changes for the condition.

Last and certainly not least, join us and celebrity esthetician JoElla Lee at 4:15 p.m. CDT as she discusses in person how to treat and prevent hyperpigmentation in skin of color. Lee will not only discuss lightening agents that can be used, but she will also detail protocols that can be put into place.

So, what are your plans this Sept. 14-16, 2020? Consider joining us at the inaugural Face & Body Virtual by visiting www.skininc.com/virtual. We can't wait to gather with you in person sometime soon, but until then, here's to the evolution of virtual tradeshow! DS